Regarding the occurrence of unauthorized access to the servers of an overseas group company

We have confirmed that the Singapore base of our overseas group company, TOPPAN Next Tech Pte. Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as TNT), was attacked by ransomware on April 1st of this year and some servers were encrypted. As a result, some of TNT's clients' data may have been leaked. We reported this matter to the Singapore authorities and are currently investigating the scope of the impact of the attack with the support of experts.

Please note that TNT's network is not connected to the group companies, so there is no impact on the networks and contracted work of other TOPPAN group companies, including Japan.

We deeply apologize for the great concern and inconvenience caused to our business partners, those whose information may have been leaked, and all related parties. We will report again if any new information becomes known.
